RE: MB Docket No. 04-233

I am a resident of Denver, Colorado, currently served by K-LOVE, a national Christian radio broadcast service. My first contact with K-LOVE came in the summer of 2000, in Pine Bluff, Arkansas. I stumbled upon the station and was knocked out by the expression of love and humanity they transmit. We moved away from Pine Bluff at the end of that summer, and though I looked up and down the dial in Denver, no K-LOVE existed.

Two weeks into September, K-LOVE came on my radio, a life buoy thrown to me during two tough weeks of life transition, and they haven't left me since. The FCC should know that K-LOVE isn't just a music clique for the ultra Christian. It's a resting place for anyone. It becomes as necessary to families as saying I-love-you everyday. This is humanity at its best, connecting, consoling, uplifting and living examples of better lives.

Please allow for an exemption to this priority over current FM service for all listener-supported current stations. This exemption would be an equitable solution for future technological changes. I believe the government should always be in service to the people, and that blanket rulings hurt many and not the few. Please devise a strategy to insure that progress is forwards and not destructive.

Sincerely,
